Mysore Varsity holds workshop on Online Courses

PG students can choose 44 subjects under UGC-MOOC SWAYAM platform

Mysuru, June 19 (RKB&NNN)- The 103-year-old University of Mysore (UoM) has become the first University in Karnataka to offer Massive Open Online Courses (MOOC) by adopting SWAYAM (Study Webs of Active-Learning for Young Aspiring Minds). The very important aspect of this revolutionary platform given by the UGC (University Grants Commission) is that one can get teaching and lessons from experts in various parts of the country, said Mysore University Vice-Chancellor (VC) Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar.

He was speaking after inaugurating a one-day workshop on 'Adoption of UGC-MOOCs SWAYAM courses' organised by College Development Council (CDC) and SWAYAM Digital Learning Monitoring Cell at Vijnana Bhavan in Manasagangothri here this morning and said that this workshop is being conducted to bring about awareness among both teachers and students with regard to online courses and exams.

University of Mysore Vice-Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar inaugurating the one-day workshop at Vijnana Bhavan in Manasagangothri in city this morning as (from left) CDC Director Dr. S. Srikantaswamy, University of Mysore Registrar Prof. Lingaraj Gandhi, Finance Officer Prof. B. Mahadevappa and SWAYAM Co-ordinator Dr. H.S. Kumara look on.

Any new system when it is introduced always faces resistance like the semester system and the introduction of the CBCS (Choice Based Credit System) did earlier. But this is a new era and it is the time of digital education which has come to the country and the teachers cannot sit back and say that they are not ready. It is not only students but even public can make use of this platform, he said.

In the New Education Policy (NEP) the aim is to increase the Gross Enrolment Ratio (GER) as the number of enrolment in Post Graduate courses are going down. MOOC helps in increasing the enrolment through online and hybrid learning where teachers who cannot go to rural areas can teach online and thus the students can be benefited, said Prof. Hemantha Kumar.

In the first phase of the project, SWAYAM is adopted at the UoM Post Graduate Centres in Manasagangothri, Hemagangothri in Hassan and Mandya PG Centre. About 183 students had enrolled in 18 subjects and 163 students appeared for UGC-MOOCs SWAYAM course exam held on Jan.19 and 20, 2019 of which 113 (69.32%) students passed the exam by securing 40 and above percentage, he said and added that the performance of the University was above the national average of 50 percent.

Work-wage connect

Global rating agencies are taking a close look at the ease of doing business in different countries across the world, including India, reckoning a set of parameters, focussing on laws and regulations framed by the Governments as well as their ways and levels of implementation. A similar exercise is underway on ranking the land's States in respect of their current status of ease of doing business, based on parameters, some of which have been slammed in circles of professionals conversant with nuances of doing business. Debates on the subject may or may not make the countries raise their ranks in the global scene and the land's States to attract investment competitively in days ahead, but the whole world is going about the stern business of earning a living. The litmus test for ease of doing business, unarguably, breaks down to a) Return on investment to the entrepreneur, b) Take home pay packet to the executives and c) Wages to the workforce without cause for bickering. Amidst this volatile ambience, the home-makers at large don't seem to witness light at the end of the dark tunnel as they are stuck with work-wage disconnect.

Inter-country wars have been invariably fought for expanding both territory and gaining wealth as well as power to rule. Intra-country wars, in a certain sense, is fought between the employer and the employees, the former in pursuit of success in his enterprise and the latter demanding wages on a steadily rising graph. The former kind of wars and the latter kind are different kettles of fish.

Small and micro firms reportedly employ about 94 per cent of more than 460 million workers in the land that section identified as informal workforce. These enterprises take care to keep the number of workers below 20, in order to stay away from the burden of labour compliance laws, according to a staff industry apex body. Its President, speaking to media, has opined that the country had currently an overdose of rules concerning employment of workers, hurting the growth of formal job market in particular and the country's economic health in general. The Central Government's 44 labour rules, in addition to more than 100 State-specific laws are learnt to have been introduced for India of a different era, considered as irrelevant to present conditions of the economy.

Job creation and livelihood with wages to meet the expenses on basic necessities (food, shelter, education of children, spend on health and savings) of the families of workers are issues that have to be addressed for achieving a work-wage connect that sustains the country's expanding work-force and its economic health.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

To tackle problems created by the mind, we need to find solutions in the mind only. With our engagement obsessively with the material world, body stress, tension and mental problems become difficult to overcome. Beyond the mind lies our emotions. Spiritual people who kept away the outside world did not face any problems. The one who lives at the level of body and mind and on the basis of other's emotions faces many problems. There is a state of existence beyond the mind, which, if we access, we can resolve our mental problems. Tensions and depressions can be completely overcome. When faced with depression, man can create havoc, he can hurt himself and others. He could even kill himself. Worry is a mental problem. Even though we know that nothing can be achieved by worry and that worry is destructive and negative, yet, when something adverse happens, worry follows on its heels. — Acharya Mahapragya in The Times of India

Pouring Holy Water from chopper in mass exorcism

Buenaventura: The bishop of the local Diocese has proposed using a Navy helicopter to shower the city in holy water to deal with a wave of violence and corruption sweeping over the Colombian port city of Buenaventura.

Monsignor Rubén Darío Jaramillo Montoya, Bishop of the Diocese of Buenaventura, plans to perform a mass exorcism in the Colombian city that has seen violent crime and corruption rise to an all-time high. With the support of the National Navy, the representative of the Church wants to use a helicopter to sprinkle holy water over the city in an attempt to get rid of demons. The daring event is scheduled for July 13th or 14th, when Buenaventura hosts its annual patron saints festivities.

The announcement came a week after the lifeless body of a 10-year-old girl was discovered in Buenaventura. Her uncle confessed to the crime and has since been jailed, but this was only the latest in a series of violent crimes in the Colombian port.

Politician's press conference telecast with cat filter

Islamabad: A live-stream of a Pakistani politician's press conference went viral when the person operating the camera apparently forgot to turn off a cat filter.

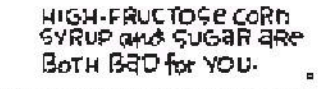
Shoukat Yousufzai, the minister of Health and Information for Khyber Pakhtunkhwa, appeared in the live-stream video sporting cat ears and whiskers while delivering the briefing about some local issues. Yousufzai's party, Tehreek-e-Insaf, released a statement explaining the cat filter was not intentional.

"Yesterday, whilst covering a press briefing held by KP's Information Minister Shoukat Yousf Zai, a 'cat filter' was witnessed by the viewers which was removed within few minutes," the statement said.

The party said "human error" was to blame for the filter.

HEALTH CAPSULE by Bron Smith

Why is high-fructose corn syrup often listed first on ingredient lists?



Manufacturers know that the public craves sugar. Therefore, their products are often created based on the taste of sweetness... and the cheapest sweetener is high-fructose corn syrup. It's also sweeter than sugar. Most people are unaware that high fructose corn syrup contains toxins, including mercury.

Saturn to Dance with Moon tonight

Indians are privileged to witness a spectacular astronomical spectacle tonight. This celestial event is referred to as 'Occultation of Saturn'. Anytime after 7 pm in the south-eastern direction, one can see a white dot exceedingly close to Moon, which is the most gorgeous planet in the solar system, Saturn. Tonight, Saturn can be seen very adjacent to waning gibbous Moon in the constellation 'Sagittarius'.

This year, Occultation of Saturn can be seen throughout the year and it happens almost every month. This gas giant Saturn is placed between the constellations 'Sagittarius' and 'Capricornus'. On July 10, Saturn will have very close encounter with Earth and this astronomical event is called 'Opposition of Saturn'. Jupiter and Saturn have planned to dominate this year captivatingly! From today, one can witness the planets 'Mars' and 'Mercury' in the western direction after sunset clearly. Occultation of Saturn can be seen clearly from South America and Africa, conspicuously.

It will be a wonderful opportunity for Observational Astronomers and sky gazers for Astrophotography. By the use of high resolution camera or charged coupled devices, one can clearly take photographs of this astounding celestial feast after 7 pm.

It is located within the Bay of Khambhat in Arabian Sea. This temple of Lord Shiva can only be visited during the low tide hours. In the hours of high tides it remains mostly submerged. People flock this temple in large numbers to witness the event of submerging or reemerging of the temple from the sea. It's a surprise that despite remaining in water the temple is still the same.

Operation Wheel-Lock

Install uniform 'No Parking' signboards with clear marking

Sir,

This is with reference to the letter by Chandrahas titled "Operation Wheel-Lock: Increase fine amount" (Star of Mysore dated June 15). I wish to draw your attention to my earlier letter dated Apr.29, 2019 on this matter.

On the issue of increasing the fine amount, if am right, it has to be done through an amendment to MV Act of Karnataka and not in the hands of local authorities. A more comprehensive Central MV Act amendment is already introduced in the Parliament and awaiting due passing in this session. This amendment provides for heavy penalties for many such traffic offences.

It is unjustified to merely increase the fine amount for parking offences without due effort and investment in providing sufficient space for legal parking, bringing uniformity in well-marked signboards, clearly marking the 'No Parking' areas, computerising information gathering and storage and sending challans to right addresses, etc.

Just increasing the fine amount will only increase the corruption activity by subverting the system. If the amount is low but needs great effort to get the wheel-lock removed, then a lesson is learnt and fine is collected with acknowledgement, due recording in the computer etc.

Sir,

The recent letter on 'Operation Wheel-Lock' appears to be most important and useful suggestion considering the 'devil may care attitude' of the motorists with least concern for other road-users.

Similarly, three people riding on two-wheelers has become the privilege and order of the day and it is hell for other road-users when these vehicles try to take left or right turn with hardly any space to move the handle bar.

Hence, the Traffic Police should seize these vehicles on the spot and cancel the RC Book to bring in discipline.

Monsoon to gain momentum in Kodagu after June 20

District administration directs for relocation of 236 families living in disaster-prone areas

Annies Kanmani Joy

Madikeri, June 19- With the Meteorological Department force-casting that Monsoon may pick up in Kodagu after June 20, the people residing in villages, which were devastated in last year's floods, are feeling scared, apprehending monsoon fury.

The Geological Survey of India has listed 13 villages and localities in Madikeri and Somaswarpet taluks, which include Kalur, Mukkodlu, Makkandur, Hammiyala, Soorlabbi, Jodupala, Madenadu, Hemmatalu, Meghatalu, Chamundeshwarinagar, Indira Nagar, Mangaladevi Nagar and Vinayaka Extension as disaster-prone areas. A total of 236 families are residing in these 13 villages, which were washed away in last year's natural calamity.

With the Meteorological Department forecasting monsoon fury after June 20, these families are pondering on where to go, as finding a house for rent elsewhere has become a difficult task for them.

Even as the villagers are jittery over the prediction of heavy rainfall, Kodagu DC Annies Kanmani Joy said that the District Administration is ready to pay one month rent in advance for villagers who are willing to relocate ahead of monsoon.

The Veterinary Department has been asked to take care of the cattle owned by the villagers, she said and added that the relocation of residents of flood-prone villages will be completed in a week.

The meeting also decided to allow felling of not more than 10 trees in one acre area in a period of five years at places other than eco-sensitive areas.

Suresh who ended his life after making a selfie-video appealing HDK to attend his last rites.

The CM maintained that the Government would act firmly against money-lenders who charge exorbitant interest.

Engagement drama in matrimony website

Fake IPS officer held for demanding money from Navy man

Hunsur, June 19 (KK&KS)- Hunsur Police have arrested a fake IPS Officer, who had uploaded her profile as a probationary IPS Officer on a matrimonial website, getting engaged to an Indian Navy Sailor and then demanding money from the Sailor.

Lavanya Bhanu

The arrested fake IPS Officer is 23-year-old Lavanya Bhanu, daughter of Rajanayaka and a resident of Kalkunike in Hunsur. She was produced before a Magistrate, who has remanded her to judicial custody.

DETAILS

Lavanya Bhanu had uploaded her profile on a matrimony website stating that she was a probationary IPS Officer which was noticed by Lokesh, an Indian Navy Sailor at Kolkata and a native of Hebbalaguppe village in H.D. Kote taluk.

Lavanya had informed Lokesh that she was selected to IPS in 2018 and was undergoing training at Coimbatore in Tamil Nadu besides stating that IPS Officer Ravi D. Channannavar and Mysuru Police Officers had wished her and had sent her for the training.

Believing her, Sailor Lokesh convinced his family members and on Apr.14, got engaged to Lavanya at a function held at a Community Centre in Hunsur during which Lavanya received lakhs of rupees from Lokesh, according to the Police.

Lavanya had also demanded Lokesh to hold the marriage ceremony in Mysuru. She had given Lokesh three mobile phone numbers saying that the numbers belonged to her sisters.

Lavanya then made calls to Lokesh using the three mobile phone numbers in the names of Divya, Ramya and Bharathi and demanded Lokesh to get her a loan of Rs.13 lakh for wedding expenditure besides threatening Lokesh that if he fails to give her the money she would write the names of his (Lokesh) family members and commit suicide and had sent a photo of her preparing to hang herself, on WhatsApp.

Suspecting something fishy as the voice and style of speaking of the callers from the three mobile phone numbers were the same, Lokesh got it investigated through his sources and came to know that Lavanya had made the calls in different names.

Meanwhile, Lokesh had became depressed as Lavanya was allegedly blackmailing him to give her Rs.13 lakh failing which she would commit suicide after writing the names of Lokesh's family members and sending them to jail.

Lokesh's brother Venkatesh, who came to know about his brother's problems, had lodged a complaint at Hunsur Town Police Station. The Police, who conducted an investigation based on the complaint found that Lavanya was not an IPS Officer and had earlier cheated a youth from Chitradurga in the similar way and had received cash and gold jewellery from the youth.

The Police also came to know that a compromise meeting was held at a Government Office at Hunsur in this regard.

The Police, who arrested Lavanya, have booked cases under IPC Section 406, 417, 419, 420, 384, 385, 506, 507 and 114 read with 34, produced her before a Magistrate who remanded her to judicial custody.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka tells how to take care of baby squirrels, explains about respiratory illnesses in horses, behaviour of rabbits and more

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

A man down the road has several donkeys that he uses for carrying bricks. One donkey limps. He also has some pus in his hooves. What should I do? He won't let me take them to a vet.

See if you can bring a vet to the donkeys. Abscesses in the hoof are a common cause of lameness. In donkeys they are most often caused by small stones or other matter penetrating the weakest part of the foot, the junction between the wall and the sole (the "white line"). Bacteria and other micro-organisms are also introduced. The white blood cells, trying to eliminate this infection, accumulate as a build-up of "pus" between the hoof wall and the internal sensitive tissue. The pain is often intense and gets worse, unless the pressure from the build-up of pus is released. Such donkeys will often prefer to lie down, and walk only slowly trying to bear the least possible weight on the affected foot. Treatment of foot abscesses includes:

Foot dressings should be kept clean and changed regularly, probably daily. (Waterproof adhesive tape and "silage bag patches" are useful outer coverings to protect from wet and dirty underfoot conditions.) Be warned. Some very lame donkeys will seem to improve if infection breaks out at the coronary band (the top of the hoof). Prompt veterinary attention is still needed. Regular tetanus vaccination relieves the worry of this potential complication. Wet muddy fields, small sharp stones on tracks and stable floors and bouts of laminitis, all increase the risk of foot abscesses.

I found a pair of baby squirrels in my backyard. They were quite noisy and restless so I gave them some milk. (Dipped some cotton in a bowl of milk) How do I go about their care now?

Squirrels are not domesticated and do not make good pets. Always wear gloves when handling wild babies. Try to reunite the baby or babies with their mom. If you think the mother squirrel may still be in the area, and you have a good idea where the nest is that the babies came from, you can give the mother the opportunity to retrieve the babies. If the baby is sick, injured or cold the chances are that the mom will not come back to retrieve it. Place the babies in a box. You can place this box near the tree or area they came from. Make sure that the babies can't get out of the box but the mother will be able to get in and get the babies. If the babies still have their eyes closed, they will need a heat source to help them keep warm. Even on hot summer days baby squirrels can get chilled quickly. A bottle filled with hot water and covered with a sock can be placed near the babies. Test to be sure the temperature isn't too hot, and place a tee-shirt around it to be sure it doesn't roll onto the babies. Never feed the babies any kind of cow's milk, goat milk, or soymilk.

The squirrel should be kept hydrated and be fed puppy replacement milk or kitten replacement milk using a syringe without the needle (mix one part of milk with three parts of water). If they won't take the fluids, put a drop on their lips or poke a drop in their mouth so they can taste some of it first. Before and after each feeding of fluids you will need to gently wipe the genital and anal area with a warm, moist cotton ball or Q-tip until they urinate or defecate. Otherwise their stomach will bloat and may result in death.

My cow has a moist circular patch on the muzzle and tips of her ears. Should I be concerned?

Rain scald is a skin disease seen in all ages of cattle, but particularly young animals. It is caused by a bacteria and is commonly associated with wet weather.

It begins as a moist circular patch, often with matted hairs which give a characteristic paint brush appearance. It is typically seen on muzzle, tips of ears, withers, but rapidly spreads - can involve up to half the skin area in severe cases.

There is no completely effective treatment, particularly for severe cases. Many antibiotics are effective, particularly penicillin. Keeping the skin dry (i.e. bringing the cattle indoors) is often more effective than any treatment. Anti-inflammatory injections significantly improve cow well-being and help to restore the cow to normal production. Local disinfection and treatment are necessary in more severe cases.

Is it true that only male cows have horns?

It is commonly believed that bulls have horns and cows do not. It is not true. The presence of horns depends on the breed.

During summers what step can I take to help street animals with food and water?

During summers, you can install a tub of water (concrete or plastic) outside your house and keep refilling it. You should give food to animals in your colony at a fixed time. In a few days they ill all appear at that time and then disperse.

My horse hasn't been eating well since a couple of days and has perpetual yellow nasal discharge. What should I do?

Strangles is one of the most common respiratory illnesses in horses. Strangles is caused by an easily transmissible bacterium called Streptococcus equi. The bacteria can easily be carried from horse to horse, by human hands and clothing, brushes, buckets and persist on stable surfaces for weeks. Young horses are more susceptible to strangles than mature horses over five years of age, although horses can contract strangles at any age, especially if their immune system is already weakened.

Because the bacteria are so easily transmissible, one horse can quickly infect a whole stable, or one horse at a horse show can spread the illness more widely.

Strangles can be easily diagnosed by testing the nasal mucous. If caught in its very early stages, penicillin can be administered with good results. However, as the illness progresses, antibiotics are less effective and may even cause complications. With or without antibiotics, good care, that includes scrupulous hygiene, is essential. Any burst lymph nodes should be allowed to drain, and cleaned with the antiseptic recommended by your veterinarian.

If a horse is suspected to have strangles, quarantine is necessary and any new horse to a stable should be kept separate to make sure it has no diseases to pass along. Anything that comes in contact with the horse, equipment, including feed and water buckets, brushes, blankets, human hands, should be well cleaned. Vaccinations are available, but so far, their life span is very short. If a stable is infected with strangles it should be closed to new horses, and people should be advised to take precautions. Horses should not travel anywhere where they might spread the disease, even if they appear to be recovered.

Why is my rabbit shivering?

A rabbit shaking, or trembling is one of the most common behaviour that owners come across and leaves many nervous, because it seems unusual. Rabbits may shiver when in pain. Unwell rabbits will also struggle to maintain their body temperature ,and hypothermia can set in quickly, even when the ambient temperature is not that cold.

Rabbits do not take heat very well; they can endure cold, but heat really gets to them. A temperature of 26º C (80º F) or more will cause them distress. High temperatures will make rabbits shake. Bring down the heat in the room and leave a frozen water bag, or a damp sheet or pillow, near them. If heat is the cause, the rabbit will meet the cold surface and start feeling better.

When scared, it is quite normal for rabbits to start shaking. You will notice that they are frightened from their body language; their nose will vibrate in such situations.

There are many different reasons why a rabbit could get frightened. It could be due to trauma or a change of surroundings. When you bring a new rabbit home, they might miss their earlier environment at the pet store or the farm. They might even miss their mother or siblings. Sometimes, a rabbit that's used to being alone may not respond well to another in close confines and may get frightened with new company. All these situations make the rabbit shake and even spray urine too.

With long-haired rabbits it can be difficult to decipher if the rabbit is really shaking its whole body or if it is just having a hiccup episode. Touch the rabbit all over on its stomach, nose, ears and back to diagnose the problem. They breathe fast, so you must be able to recognize their normal breathing pattern.

Miffed Baig blames Siddu for his suspension from Party

Bengaluru, June 19-A day after the Congress High Command suspended him from the Party, Shivajinagar MLA and former Minister R. Roshan Baig has defended his criticism of the State Party leaders.

The KPCC had suspended Baig for anti-party activities on Tuesday night with immediate effect. Baig had lashed out at State Congress leaders including KPCC President Dinesh Gundu Rao, Congress Legislature Party (CLP) leader Siddharamaiah and State Party in-charge K.C. Venugopal for the party's humiliating defeat in LS polls.

Addressing a press meet here this morning, a miffed Roshan Baig accused former CM Siddharamaiah of being behind his suspension from the Party.

Defending his criticism of Congress leaders for the Party's drubbing in the just concluded LS polls, Baig maintained that the Assembly segments represented by Dinesh Gundu Rao, Siddharamaiah and other top Party leaders gave lead to BJP candidates in the LS polls.

Stating that the Shivajinagar Assembly segment, which he represents, gave lead to Congress candidates in Bengaluru (Central) LS Constituency, Baig wondered what was wrong with his criticism of the State Congress leaders when the Party had fared poorly in the LS polls.

Questioning why the same yardstick was not applied to Congress leaders who openly campaigned against Kolar candidate K.H. Muniyappa and other Congress candidates, the rebel Shivajinagar MLA demanded answers from Siddu and Dinesh Gundu Rao for Party's dismal performance in Parliamentary polls.

Pointing out that he had not made any remarks against Rahul Gandhi, Baig maintained that whatever he had said on the Congress leaders was true and he had only expressed the feelings of scores of Party workers, who were upset over the Party winning just one seat from the State.

Making a point by point attack on State Congress leaders, especially Siddharamaiah and Dinesh Gundu Rao, Baig also maintained that Siddu was not a Congressman but only an import.

Declaring that he would meet Senior Congress leaders such as Mallikarjun Kharge, Ramalinga Reddy and Muniyappa shortly, he said that he will decide on going to Delhi only after the outcome of the talks with these leaders.

Baig, however, refused to disclose his future political plans.

Siddu refutes Baig's charges

Greets Rahul Gandhi on his birthday

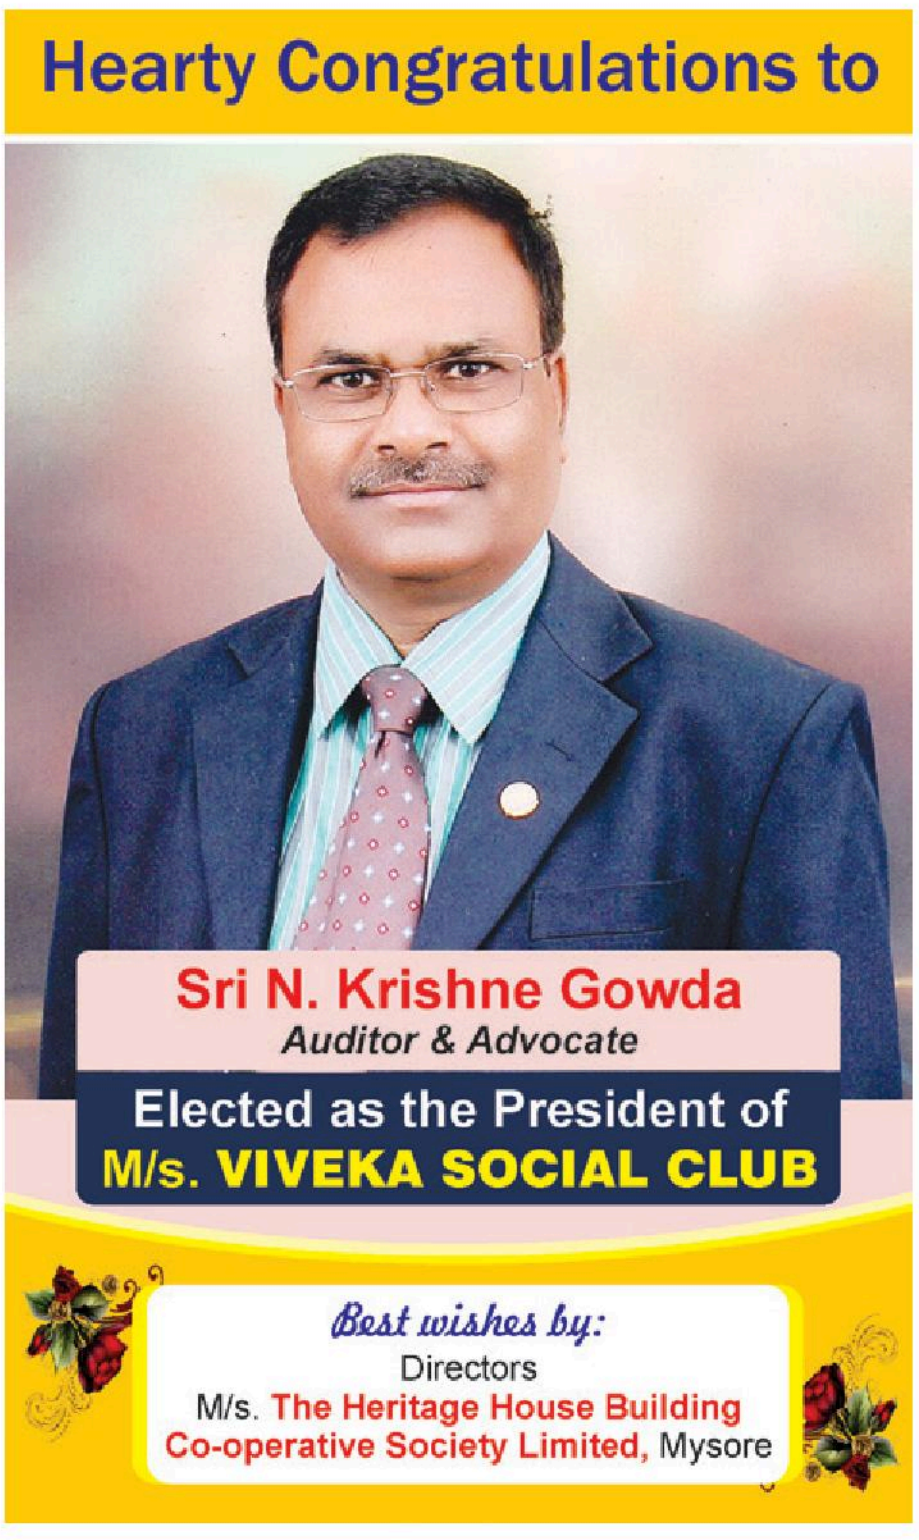
New Delhi, June 19 (MMJ&DM)- Even as Shivajinagar MLA Roshan Baig from Karnataka lashed out at Siddharamaiah for his (Baig) suspension from the Congress at a press meet in Bengaluru this morning, CLP leader Siddharamaiah refuted the allegations saying there was no truth in his claims.

Speaking to press persons at Karnataka Bhavan here this noon, Siddharamaiah maintained that it was the decision of the Congress High Command to suspend Roshan Baig from the Party and he has nothing to do with it.

Replying to Baig's charges that he (Siddu) was not a original Congressman, the CLP leader said there was nothing like original or an imported Congressman and all Congressmen were one and the same.

Commenting on portfolio allocation to newly-inducted Independent MLAs in Karnataka's coalition Government, Siddu said that it was the prerogative of the CM to allot portfolios to his Ministers and as such he has nothing much to say on this.

Earlier in the day, Siddharamaiah visited the residence of Rahul Gandhi at No. 12, Tughlaq Lane and extended birthday greetings to the AICC President. Siddharamaiah was accompanied by MLC Prakash Rathod, former MLAs Ashok Pattan and Appaji C.S. Nadagouda.



After Kamakshi Saraswathipuram, now Kamakshi J.P. Nagar

An Uncommon Hospital for the Common Man

It was the year 1970. There were just the two famous Hospitals — K.R. Hospital and Holdsworth Memorial Mission Hospital — besides a few Nursing Homes. Mysore city was growing and this was the time when the lady of the house of one of the prominent families in the city, late Bantwal Sulochana Madhava Shenoi (BSMS), realised the need of providing quality medical services to the needy at affordable costs. This noble desire of Sulochana Bai was translated into reality by her husband M. Madhava Shenoi and his sons when they started the Kamakshi Hospital named after their family deity 'Ramnathi Shanteri Kamakshi.'

Kamakshi Hospital started operations in April 1973, three years after the guddali puja was performed on the outskirts of Saraswathipuram. The influence of the Hospital was so much that the road leading to the Hospital was named Kamakshi Hospital Road. It is 46 years now and as the number of babies born in the Hospital increased, as it started with a maternity wing, the population of the area also kept increasing with newer and newer extensions coming up.

Cut to the present and we can see that the philanthropic efforts of Madhava Shenoi couple has passed on to the third generation, though the challenges are that many with a couple of well-known Hospitals in the heart of the city even closing down.

However, seeing the growth of the city, the Managing Trustee of Kamakshi Hospital M. Mahesh Shenoy decided that it was time the philanthropic arm stretched to another part of the city and thus he and the other Trustees identified the burgeoning J.P. Nagar to start their second Hospital.

Drive up the Manandavadi Road past the National Institute of Engineering (NIE) and just near the under-bridge a road forks steeply up to the left to Nachanahallipalya with a board on the right reading Nandiprashanthanagara. There is also a sign-board at this junction on the left — way to Daddihalli, Sinduvalli, Byathalli, Doddakanya. Climbing the steep road and taking a left turn just opposite to Railway track is the new, spacious, horizontal, unpretentious hospital building — Multi-Speciality Kamakshi Hospital, J.P. Nagar.

B. Madhava Shenoi Sulochana Bai

The driving force behind this whole venture is Mahesh Shenoy. His touch can be seen in every aspect of the construction right from the acquisition of the land to its completion.

The Medical Superintendent of Kamakshi Hospital, Saraswathipuram, Dr. C. Umesh Kamath, who has seen Mahesh Shenoy from childhood, makes no bones about his admiration for the man and true to his faith in him, the Young Turk believes as the 'Director' in only one thing — "Lights, Camera, Action."

"I believe strongly in the adage of Bhagavad Gita: There is Action in Inaction and Inaction in Action. I say this because there are many who could have done good by constantly trying to influence me or others who could have kept quiet. Luckily, those whose intentions were good kept quiet and those who wanted to keep quiet acted," said Mahesh Shenoy, who has a spiritual bent of mind in him.

Mahesh Shenoy is also the Founder of a beautiful Young Island Resort in Srirangapatna, a boutique hotel named Young Island Comforts on a prime location on Millers Road, Bengaluru. He is planning to start a resort in Madikeri for which the land has already been purchased. He also has plans of starting a school and hospital in Madikeri, Kodagu.

He is the Managing Director of a land development company called Horizon Estates and Developers India Pvt. Ltd. and also into construction of commercial and residential projects in and around Mysuru, Bengaluru and Madikeri.

Mahesh Shenoy has been conferred an Honorary Doctorate for Business Management at United Nations Sustainable Development Goals Conference in association with Brampton International University of Canada held at Dubai last year. He is Vice-President of GSB Sabha and a Trustee of MAHAN (Mysore Association of Hospitals And Nursing Homes).

MULTI-SPECIALITY HOSPITAL

The idea of constructing the second Multi-Speciality Hospital came about four years back and the work started in December 2017. The idea was to cater to the growing population of South Mysuru which has many areas that include J.P. Nagar, Jayanagar, Ashokapuram, Nachanahallipalya besides small towns like H.D. Kote, Nanjangud and T. Narasipur, said Mahesh Shenoy and added "Just like in our first hospital which our grandparents started realising the need of providing quality medical services to needy at affordable costs, this hospital is no different though it looks a bit more classy and modern than the one at Saraswathipuram. Our strength is the special bonding we have developed in the community of people, as being a Charity Hospital, Service is our only Motto."

"It is only team work that has taken us this far. I still remember how when we started the Hospital we had bore-well water and could not use it for sterilisation of instruments. Every day, Madhava Shenoi, the Founder, would bring two jerry cans of Cauvery water from his home in his Mercedes Benz, deliver it and then go and sit in his office," said Dr. K.R. Kamath, Administrator of Kamakshi Hospital.

FACILITIES AT NEW HOSPITAL

The Rs.75 crore - Rs.80 crore worth new Hospital is situated on 2.2 acres of land. The built-up area is 1,35,000 square feet with basement, ground and first floors. Currently, it will be a 100-bed hospital with a capacity to increase it to 200 beds.

The lobby, as one enters the Hospital, is huge with reception area and offices located here. To the right is the 'Sterile Zone' where except the doctors, nurses, staff and the patients no one is allowed. In this Sterile Zone there are four Operation Theatres (OT) including a Laminar OT. It also has the labour wards, which is really state-of-the-art, with a separate place for mothers-to-be waiting rooms, nursing rooms and a Neo-natal unit.

There is a Central Sterilisation unit where the total sterilisation of the OT linen, the dressings and the instruments are done. Just outside the Sterile Zone is the Pharmacy, Jaswik Medicals, a unit of Raghulal & Co., owned by N. Raghavan.

On the left side of the lobby is the Out-Patient Department, Casualty section, Minor OT, X-Ray, Scanning, Echo Cardiography, Treadmill, MRI and Consulting rooms. The Pathology Lab is also in the ground floor where the samples are drawn and then sent to the first floor through a small lift to the state-of-the-art laboratory where 80 blood sample tests can be done at one time.

The ground floor also has 10 male general wards, 10 female general wards and 10 maternity wards. There are 14-bed ICUs (Intensive Care Units), 8-bed SICUs (Surgical Intensive Care Units), 6-bed NICU (Neo-natal Intensive Care Units) and 6 Casualty beds.

In the first floor, there are 10 Deluxe Wards, 23 Special Wards, 6 Semi-Special Male Wards, 8 Semi-Special Female Wards, 13 Semi-Special Maternity Wards and 5 Twin-Sharing Wards, besides a large meeting hall and the stores.

DOCTORS AND STAFF

Kamakshi Hospital, Saraswathipuram, with a blemish-less record in the last 46 years, has also been a witness to renowned doctors who have been serving and who had served the Hospital with great distinction since its inception like Physician Dr. C.D. Srinivasa Murthy, Surgeon Dr. C.G. Narasimhan, Orthopaedician Dr. J.S. Hegde, Gynaecologist (late) Dr. G.S. Nirmala, Anaesthetist (late) Dr. V.P. Ballal, late Dr. R.H.N. Shenoy to name a few.

The new team of doctors at Kamakshi, J.P. Nagar, will strive to emulate these veterans by serving selflessly.

There are a total of sixteen doctors with different specialisations. Medical Superintendent Dr. N.C. Ashok heads the team that include Pathologist Dr. Rajagopal Sreenivasa Iyengar, Paediatrician Dr. Shashikiran B. Patil, Neonatologist Dr. Kushal Ravikumar, Physician Dr. Humeera Naaz, Senior Surgeon Dr. Sushma Krishnamurthy, Senior Gynaecologist Dr. Shwetha Nayak, Orthopaedic Surgeon Dr. Madhu Sudhan, Chief Medical Officer Dr. Vishwanath Kumar, Duty Doctors Dr. K. Preethi and Dr. N. J. Rashmi and Consultant Assistants Dr. M.D. Subramanya, Dr. K. Prashanth, Dr. C. Ashwini, Dr. T. Ravi and Dr. Praveen Kumar.

Asked about the challenges of recruiting doctors, Dr. K.R. Kamath, Dr. Umesh Kamath and Mahesh Shenoy agreed that it was a real test as there is shortage of doctors and the need of the hour is specialist doctors. Unlike the common belief that the youngsters are only after money and doctors have become blood-suckers, the experience of the interviewers who selected the team was different.

"I was pleasantly surprised to see the service-mindedness of young doctors. All of them have come to this Hospital knowing the past record of their elder colleagues in Kamakshi Hospital starting from Dr. K.R. Kamath, Dr. Umesh Kamath and even General Manager Prasanna Kumar who have all stayed the course," said Mahesh Shenoy.

The other staff include Assistant General Manager G. N. Bhaskar, 17 Nursing staff, 9 Paramedicals, 9 House-keeping and 10 administration staff.

NABH ACCREDITATION

Like any Hospital that is set up now requires NABH accreditation (National Accreditation Board for Hospitals & Healthcare Providers), even Kamakshi Hospital, J.P. Nagar, has gone through stringent standards to get accreditation by meeting the statutory requirements, said Dr. Umesh Kamath.

The Pathology Lab at the Hospital is a perfect example of these stringent standards where samples are sent to other labs for testing every now and then to do QCT (Quality Control Tests), said Pathologist Dr. Rajagopal S. Iyengar.

MANAVA RATHNA AWARD

Recalling the contribution of Kamakshi Hospital, Saraswathipuram, to the society at large, Dr. Umesh Kamath cites the Manava Rathna Award that was conferred on the Hospital for its 'Save A Child' project to provide corrective surgeries to children born with congenital anomalies.

This project was conceived by the then President of Rotary Club of Mysore West Rtn. Sam Cherian, an industrialist and philanthropist. The surgeries performed include hernias, hydroceles, intestinal obstructions, urinary track obstructions at various levels causing Hydronephrosis, Torticollis, Orthopaedic surgeries, Talipus foot, Hydrocephalus and many more such surgeries, he said.

The new Hospital is also hoping to get involved in such projects for the common man, said Mahesh Shenoy.

FUTURE PLANS

It is not enough to stress that since the B.S.M.S. Trust is a Charitable Trust, it has got Income Tax (IT) exemption under 80-G, but every person, be it an elected representative or the suppliers of medical equipment, hospital furniture or even experts in the medical field have all gone out of their way to support the new Hospital, acknowledges Mahesh Shenoy with folded hands. Asked about future plans, Mahesh said that they have plans of setting up a helipad on top of the building for emergency helicopter-services. The need for nurses' quarters is also strongly felt which would come up, besides, a school and a home for the aged which is the need of the hour.

Kamakshi Hospital, J.P. Nagar, the people's Multi-Speciality Hospital, opened its doors to the public on June 18 and thus the Trustees that include Managing Trustee M. Mahesh Shenoy, Joint Managing Trustee M. Ashok Shenoy, Trustees M.P. Shankar Narayan Shenoy, M. Vinod Rao, M. Suresh Rao, M. Vishwanath Rao, Dr. K.R. Kamath, M. Jagannath Shenoi, M. Gopinath Shenoi, M. Gajanana Shenoy, M. Manoj Shenoy and the late Trustees M. Govind Rao, M. Janardhan Rao, M. Anand Rao and M. Arun Shenoy and their legacies live on in this Charitable Hospital, which continues to serve the common man.

Dist. Administration gears up for International Yoga Day

Aims to attract over one lakh participants; to deploy 150 buses

Dy. Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar addressing a press meet today as (from left) Dy Director of Tourism H.P. Janardhan, District AYUSH Officer Dr. B.S. Seethalakshmi, MCC Commissioner Shilpa Nag and DCP (Law & Order) M. Muthuraj look on.

Mysuru, June 19 (RK&SR)- The District Administration has made all preparations to conduct the fifth edition of International Day of Yoga (IDY) on June 21 at the sprawling Mysore Race Club (MRC) premises at the foot of Chamundi Hill.

Addressing a press conference at his office in city this morning, Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G.Sankar said that District Administration, Department of AYUSH, Tourism and Yoga Federation of Mysore (YFM) have made all efforts to mobilise over one lakh yoga enthusiasts.

"Last year, Mysuru did not vie for any record though more than 60,000 people performed yoga at the MRC due to lack of preparations. The Assembly election poll code had come in the way for the preparations last year and this year it was Lok Sabha elections to attempt another world record," he said.

Yoga for Public Health

However, this year, the Organisers have decided to conduct this event with twin themes of 'Yoga for Public Health and 'Yoga for Harmony' to spread awareness among public about the benefits of yoga.

The DC further said the District Administration has invited multi-religious leaders on this Day. District-In-charge Minister G.T. Devegowda and organisers had personally met and invited Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji, Adichunchanagiri Seer Dr. Sri Nirmalanandanatha Swamiji, Sri Ganapathy Sachchidananda Swamiji of Avadhoota Datta Peetham, Bishop of Mysore Rev. K.A. William, Sir Khazi Hazrath Maulana Mohammad Usman Sharief and others, he said.

Abhrim Sankar said that many schools and college students have evinced interest to participate in the event and many of them had been practising for the event over the last few months in parks and various places across the city. The District Administration is expecting 52,000 students including from JSS Educational institutions, University of Mysore, NSS, NCC, State and Central Educational Institutions.

Apart from this, many Central Government employees, Premier Scientific Research institutions, private firms including Infosys, Mysuru Industries Association, and members of all yoga organisations will be participating in the event, he said.

The event will start at 6.30 am and conclude by 8 am. Minister S.R. Mahesh will inaugurate the event while G.T. Devegowda will light the lamp. Bomb disposal squad and dog squads have already inspected the venue.

Snake-catchers

Sankar said that snake catchers have been engaged to catch snakes and other reptiles in and around MRC premises. They will camp till the event concludes.

A total of 19 'asanas' will be performed as per the protocol issued by the Central government within 45 minutes. The demonstration will be held between 7 am and 7.45 am. Hundreds of blocks have been created with each of them accommodating around 300 enthusiasts.

The five gates of MRC will be opening around 5 a.m. for the participants to assemble and prepare for the demonstration. Many Traffic Policemen will be deployed to supervise traffic in the vicinity. The participants have been asked to wear cotton cloth and to bring yoga mats and small carry-bags for keeping their footwear.

There will be traffic diversions on Friday with the Police restricting movement of vehicles on certain routes leading to the Race Course, from 5 am to 10 am. KSRTC will run 150 buses from different places of the city early morning from 4.30.

The Department of Food and Civil Supplies entrusted the responsibility to supply breakfast to all participants; Health Department to provide ambulance services and first-aid; Department of Tourism for publicity; MUDA for setting up the dais; providing water and maintaining cleanliness to MCC; Parking to the Police Department and Fire and Emergency Services and electricity to the respective departments, he added.

No plastic; Bring your own water bottles

With an effort to spread the message to the public to end the plastic menace on the same occasion, Sankar said that District Administration will not distribute drinking water to the participants on plastic bottles.

Instead, it has decided to distribute water in paper glass and to serve the breakfast on paper plates. Drinking water will be served at 25 different locations. The DC has appealed to all participants to bring their own water bottles to minimise the usage of plastic. Special measures have been taken to maintain cleanliness, health and hygiene by camping mobile toilet units at the venue.

685 Police personnel for security

The DC said that Police Department will deploy 685 Police personnel for security. Apart from this, four platoons of KSRP, 12 CAR, 30 Special Commandos and 20 Mounted Police will also be deployed. Special entry gate at South Side of MRC will be opened for VIPs and media.

Datta Peetham donates

Avadhoota Datta Peethadhipati Sri Ganapathy Sachchidananda Swamiji donated Rs. 15 lakh to provide breakfast to those participating in International Yoga Day organised by Mysuru District Administration at the sprawling Race Course in city on June 21. A cheque for the same was handed over to Shivanna, Joint Director of Food and Civil Supplies, by Sri Swamiji on June 16 at the Universal Prayer Hall, Sri Ganapathy Sachchidananda Ashrama, Nanjangud-Ooty Road, Mysuru.

Mayor Pushpalatha Jagannath and MCC Commissioner Shilpa Nag are seen performing asanas along with Corporators during the Yoga rehearsal at Palace premises.

Mysuru, June 19 (RKB&US)- Mysuru City Corporation (MCC), in association with Yoga Federation of Mysore (YFM), had organised yoga rehearsal at Mysore Palace premises this morning in the connection with the International Day of Yoga (IDY) to be held on June 21.

The rehearsal was organised exclusively for the Corporators and officers of MCC. The motive was good to bring Corporators for yoga who in turn could motivate their followers so as to substantially swell the number of participants on June 21 for IDY to be organised at Race Course.

However, today's rehearsal turned a damp squib with only 19 Corporators out of 65 turning up for the event and a couple of officers all totalling to a paltry 35 or 50 out of them a few women were clad in sarees which is obviously not suitable to perform Yoga, a clear indication of lack of interest or say common sense.

The programme was inaugurated by Mayor Pushpalata Jagannath. Dy. Mayor Shafi Ahmed, MCC Commissioner Shilpa Nag, Additional Commissioner Shivananda Murthy, Health Officers Dr. D.G. Nagaraj, Dr. Jayanth, Corporators B.V. Manjunath, Shivakumar and others participated in the rehearsal.

Yoga experts Srihari, Dr. B.G. Murthy, Ganesh Kumar and Ranganath conducted the rehearsal. When the Mayor was questioned about the lacklustre response for the rehearsal, she said that probably the Corporators were apprehensive over performing yoga or they could be pre-occupied.

ADC takes stock of preparations for Ashada Shukravara atop Chamundi Hill

Additional Deputy Commissioner B.R.Purnima presiding over the preliminary meeting held at the conference hall at the Office of the Deputy Commissioner in city yesterday

Mysuru, June 19(YDS&SR)- Additional Deputy Commissioner (ADC) B.R. Purnima has directed the officials to make all preparations for Ashada Shukravara (Ashada Fridays) beginning on July 5 to facilitate thousands of devotees who come to offer prayers to Goddess Chamundeshwari atop Chamundi Hill.

Presiding over the preliminary meeting held at the conference hall at the office of the Deputy Commissioner in city yesterday, she asked the officials to make arrangements to provide basic amenities for the devotees.

At the meeting, it was decided to install CCTVs from the statue of Mahishasura till the Temple premises, to avoid using publicity materials, to ensure providing adequate drinking water, deployment of Police personnel, paramedical staff, ambulance and illumination arrangements.

The first Ashada Shukravara falls on July 5 and the subsequent ones are on July 12, July.19 and the last one on July 26. Sri Chamndeshwari Ammanavara Vardhanti Utsava falls on July 24 this year.

As a large number of devotees are expected to throng the temple on these special days, the ADC has directed the officials concerned to take necessary measures in the interest of the devotees.

No private vehicles: Just like every year, this year too, entry of private vehicles is banned and a parking lot has been created near Lalitha Mahal Helipad from where KSRTC buses will provide free service to the devotees to the hilltop. The number of buses and trips will be decided based on the number of visitors to the hill.

She directed the officials to install barricades to control the rush and provide proper security atop the hill. Signboards will be erected for the devotees who climb the hill and precautionary measures will be taken by asking electricians to check the electrical works. Importance will be given to cleanliness and toilets, she added.

The prasadam which will be distributed to the devotees by private organisations apart from Dasoha Bhavan must be checked for quality and safety before distributing it to devotees.

All arrangements will be made at Dasoha Bhavan and see that every devotee gets prasadam, she said. The ADC also cautioned against the use of plastic and instructed officials to take necessary action against those who violate the rules.

Water-proof shamiyana for shade, drinking water arrangements, barricades for streamlining traffic, temporary lights, toilet facilities and separate parking facility for two-wheelers and four-wheelers at the parking lots will be provided, she added.

Medical team: In order to prevent any untoward incidents, including chain-snatching and pick-pocket, CCTV cameras will be installed at various places atop the hill. Street lights will also be installed at vantage spots, such as Devikere and Mahishasura statue and along the routes.

The bulbs of existing street lights on the premise of the temple and at the vehicle parking lots must be repaired prior to the Ashada month. Wherever necessary, bulbs will be changed.

As a precautionary measure, ambulances and medical teams, equipped with necessary medicines, will be deployed atop the hill. Ambulances will be stationed near Nandi statue and at the helipad for easy access.

She directed the Police Officers and officials of other Departments to manage all four Ashada Shukravaras in a disciplined way.

Sri Chamundeshwari Temple Executive Officer Prasad, Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) Superintending Engineer Suresh Babu, DC Office Protocol Tahsildar Naragund, Assistant Commissioner of Police Gajendra Prasad, Tahsildar Mahesh Kumar and officials of PWD, Kannada and Culture and KSRTC Dept. were present at the meeting.

WORD OF THE DAY

Susurrous

Pronunciation: soo-SUR-us.
Meaning: Full of whispering sounds.
Origin: Susurrous derives from the Latin noun susurrus, meaning "a hum" or "a whisper," and may be a distant relative of swarm (think of the collective hum of a beehive). Susurrus is itself an English noun with the meaning "a whispering or rustling sound" (Stephen King provides us with the example of "a violent susurrus of air"). Both the noun and the adjective (note that the two are spelled differently) are products of the 19th century, but they were preceded by the noun susurration, which in the 15th century originally meant "malicious whispering or rumor." Today susurrous is used to describe any kind of sound that resembles a whisper: a light breeze through a tree, perhaps, or the murmurs of intrigued theatre-goers.
Example: As the vacationers slept, the only sound was the susurrous breeze blowing through the curtains of the open window.

THE ODD WORD

Sangfroid
Equanimity

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Set one's teeth on edge

Meaning: Literally, to cause an unpleasant tingling of the teeth. More generally, the expression is used to describe any feeling of unpleasant distaste.

Origin: The earlier form of the phrase was 'to edge the teeth' and described the feeling of sensitivity caused by acidic tastes, like raw rhubarb.
A Middle English citation of a version of 'teeth on edge' is found in Wyclif's Bible, or to give it its full name The Holy Bible, made from the Latin Vulgate by John Wycliffe and his followers, 1382:
"And the teeth of sones wexen on egge."
Shakespeare used the expression in Henry IV, Part I, 1596:
HOTSPUR: Marry,
And I am glad of it with all my heart:
I had rather be a kitten and cry mew
Than one of these same metre ballad-mongers;
I had rather hear a brazen canstick turn'd,
Or a dry wheel grate on the axle-tree;
And that would set my teeth nothing on edge,
Nothing so much as mincing poetry:
'Tis like the forced gait of a shuffling nag.

QUOTE BOX

One whisper, added to a thousand others, becomes a roar of discontent.
